"Providing the care and skills you've come to expect for your family"

March 13, 2008

To Whom It May Concern:

I used Kaiser Construction for the recent tenant improvement on an office space for the re-opening of my veterinary practice. The owner of Kaiser Construction, Jason Kaiser, had actually been the supervisor for the company that built my previous hospital, in 2001. I was very impressed with Jason's attitude, attention to detail, and work ethic on that project, so when I heard he had started his own business I did not hesitate to use him for my new project.

Jason is very good about remembering the little details that are so important in a construction project. I also felt that he was always conscious of my budget. I never felt that he was trying to "nickel and dime" me, or that he was over-exuberant with change-orders. On the contrary, I felt that he was very considerate with his charges and never tried to take advantage of me.

On the basis of Jason's integrity and work ethic, I would not hesitate to use him again for any future commercial building or tenant improvement work I may require.

Sincerely,

Michael Lee, DVM
