PURE DENTAL
COSMETIC AND GENERAL DENTISTRY

August 7, 2006

To whom it may concern:

Dental Day Spa Inc. had the distinct pleasure of acquiring Kaiser Construction Inc. to remodel Pure Dental in Scottsdale, Arizona. In order to achieve the image of Pure Dental, Kaiser Construction provided the three essential elements to success: trust, efficiency, and delivery. Jason Kaiser, the owner of Kaiser Construction, demonstrated focus on the project while maintaining the vision for our practice.

When creating an ideal business, one must trust the person who lays down the groundwork of your building. Trust is established when the responsibilities assigned are completed. By fulfilling their obligations, Kaiser Construction supplied us with that trust. Pure Dental took a chance; a chance which unexpectedly established an invaluable foundation.

If time is money, efficiency is gold. Our development had a specific timeline. In order to not make haste of time, Kaiser Construction was instructed to accomplish its task by an exact date. Even with a short notice, an even shorter time frame and only a small deposit, they were able to meet that goal when others failed to simply react to our request.

Proper delivery was vital in our pursuit to create an ideal dental environment. Kaiser Construction delivered a modern and professional place of work from a once aged dental office. Without the delivery of the final product, Pure Dental would not have launched.

It is challenging for one to find a contractor that can simply be trusted to do what is simply asked. When the objectives were completed in a proper timeframe, trust was established and the project was headed towards our vision. Trust, efficiency and proper delivery presented Pure Dental with a solid foundation for success.

Pure Dental endorses Kaiser Construction Inc. as a reliable and trustworthy company to serve your needs. They will help create a proper business environment with integrity and efficiency.

Sincerely,

Daniel Kang D.D.S
